iBAHN Asserts Patent Infringement Against Nomadix

Seeking permanent injunction and damages in suit

London, United Kingdom (May 24, 2010) -- iBAHN, the global leader in IPTV and broadband solutions for the hospitality and meeting industries, has asserted patent infringement claims against Nomadix, Inc., in the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California. iBAHN has accused Nomadix of making and selling products that infringe upon three of the patents that protect iBAHN's unique and innovative methods and systems for network access.

"We believe it is critical to our ongoing success that we protect our important intellectual properties, which are at the center of every iBAHN solution," noted David W. Garrison, iBAHN's chief executive officer. "We will do everything we can to make sure we can maintain our competitive edge."

Specifically, iBAHN has invested millions of dollars and thousands of hours in the research and development of its patented, proprietary networking solutions and products. These patents cover a wide range of unique and innovative technologies that enable hotels to provide the secure, high speed data and Internet access that global travelers need to remain connected to families, clients and home offices.

iBAHN seeks both a permanent injunction and compensatory damages against Nomadix for its infringement of iBAHN patents.
